

The image is a grayscale micrograph showing a dense, granular texture of dark, elongated features against a lighter background. A blue line, representing a rift, starts from the bottom left and extends towards the top right. A red oval highlights a specific section of this blue line, indicating a region of interest. A text box with a red border and white background is positioned near the oval, containing the text 'Time of slow rift propagation'.

Time of slow rift propagation