

Interactive comment on “Sensitivity of CryoSat-2 Arctic sea-ice volume trends on radar-waveform interpretation” by R. Ricker et al.

N. FOURNIER

nicolas.fournier@shell.com

Received and published: 17 April 2014

The complete validation of the methodology would benefit from a comparison with in-situ sea ice draft data from ULS moorings. Such data could be made available for 2011-2013 for the Baffin Bay area to fully evaluate the accuracy of CS-2 data and retrieval algorithm to derive first-year sea ice thickness.

Interactive comment on The Cryosphere Discuss., 8, 1831, 2014.