Thank you for your constructive comments which helped to improve the current version of the manuscript, particularly in the way the model setup is explained. Virtually all of the proposed points have been implemented in the revised version. The supplement contains a point-by-point response (review_response1.pdf) where the reviewer's comments are marked italic and responses are marked in bold. In the revised manuscript changes are marked in bold (rdrews_revised_track_changes.pdf).
