To whom it may concern,

We would like to thank the editor for the positive decision and for spotting the minor issues requiring technical correction. All corrections have been performed and the files for production prepared according to the journal instructions.

Note that the link under which our data are stored (mentioned at the very end of the manuscript) is a temporary link. Since we want our data to make reference to the article itself, we would need a DOI for it. Once the article-DOI is defined, we will add it to our dataset, and provide a DOI for the latter.

In behalf of all authors
