

Re-Review: Wang et al, tc-2016-38

Dear colleagues,

This is a short re-review of the manuscript. The authors did a very good job addressing the points raised by the reviewers. In addition, they performed several supplementary model runs to further investigate model sensitivity. In my opinion this is now a nice, comprehensive study of the thermal state of a glacier in High Mountain Asia.

My recommendation is to publish the manuscript after some very minor comments have been addressed.

Sincerely, Martin Lüthi

Specific comments

p7, 21 say “61 grid points” or “61 grid cells”

p7, 25 you could add that “Details are given in Zhang et al. (2013)”.

p7, 28 change “described in above” to “described above”