

Review of the revised version of the paper “Blowing snow detection from ground-based ceilometers: application to East Antarctica” by Gossart et al.

The paper has been significantly improved and I have now only minor comments which are listed below:

p.1, line 14: 1300 m a.g.l.?

p.2, line 5: suppress “Generally” (see your definition on p.7 line 13)

p.6, line 4: mention “MRR” earlier in the paragraph (e.g., on line 1) p.8, line 2: which date?

p.13, line 8: ... (referred to as omission error)

p.13, line 27: define commission error here (see your line 2 p.20)

p.17, line13: “Blowing ...”. Sentence is unclear

p.20, last line. “effect of katabatic winds on blowing snow ...”. Strong katabatic winds may occur in the presence of strong synoptic scale winds in Adélie Land and are associated to blowing snow. Please specify that your statement concerns PE and Neumayer.
