

Interactive comment on “Last Glacial ice-sheet dynamics offshore NE Greenland – a case study from Store Koldewey Trough” by Ingrid Leirvik Olsen et al.

Chris R. Stokes (Editor)

c.r.stokes@durham.ac.uk

Received and published: 17 April 2020

I'd like to record my thanks to both reviewers for their insightful and constructive reviews of this manuscript. It is clear that whilst both reviewers see merit and potential in the work, they both recommend major revisions to the manuscript before it can be published. I share many of their concerns, particularly the rather awkward relationship between this work and the paper published in Laberg et al. (2017) and the broader implications and significance of the work and some of the interpretations. That said, I am open to a re-submission of a substantially revised and improved manuscript, which would then go back out to review.

Printer-friendly version

Discussion paper

Best wishes,
Chris Stokes

Interactive comment on The Cryosphere Discuss., <https://doi.org/10.5194/tc-2019-281>, 2020.

TCD

Interactive
comment

Printer-friendly version

Discussion paper

