Dear Editor,

it is the first time I submit an article in Cryosphere, I just want to make sure I have done the right things in the last step.

During the interactive discussion with reviewers, I had answered the comments from the two reviewers that added reviews for our article. It was then indicated that I only needed to add a more detailed answer for reviewer #2. I did that today in a pdf file that I added as a supplement. My answers are also included as a plain text but the format does not allow reading it easily. I join you here the pdf here, please let me know if I misunderstood something.

Best,

Anne Sophie.
