

Interactive comment on “Brief communication: Atmospheric dry deposition of microplastics and mesoplastics in an Antarctic glacier: The case of the expanded polystyrene” by Miguel González-Pleiter et al.

Anonymous Referee #1

Received and published: 2 December 2020

This is a short and interesting paper showing the first evidence of micro- and meso-plastic contamination on an Antarctic glacier. Methods are simple, and sample size is limited, however they are enough for a very first report on plastic occurrence in an Antarctic glacier.

---

Interactive comment on The Cryosphere Discuss., <https://doi.org/10.5194/tc-2020-261>, 2020.