This is an exciting paper about an important ice shelf. This is just a comment to share that Figure 10 in our paper (<https://www.pnas.org/content/116/38/18867>) includes radar sounding images of ice shelf thinning and crevasse formation from 1979 and 2009 which may provide useful context for the observations and processes presented in your paper.

RESPONSE: Thanks Dustin. It is useful to have brought this to the attention of readers, but we don't think it requires any changes to the manuscript.
